Transplanted glory

A historic North Carolina home is moved and brought into the 21st century

THE PROJECT

WOODLAND

Location: 4714 Timberlane Trail, Efland

Architect: Ellen Cassilly, Architect, 600 Foodler St., Durham, 516-1494

General contractor: Dickson Restoration, 404-544 Hunt St., Hillsborough

Custom cabinetry: The Custom Workroom, 877-217-2183

Plaster specialist: Edward Hetico, 919-688-8484

Total square footage: 7,121 square feet; 9,632 square feet; addition; conditioned space: 1,900 square feet

Key attributes: I-16th century historic home, disassembled and moved, renovation and addition

By Virginia Alexander, CORRESPONDENT

A t the end of a long drive, past a field, under a thick canopy of trees and into a clearing, a beautiful, stately old home appears. It seems as if the house has always been here, presiding over the land with centuries of stories to tell.

It is hard to believe that this grand, historic home was disassembled, moved and reassembled on this site in Efland a mere 14 years ago.

Built in Warrenton in the late 1770s, Woodland was renovated in 1851. Then in 1995, it was disassembled, moved and reassembled in Efland.

By Virginia Alexander

A t the end of a long drive, past a field, under a thick canopy of trees and into a clearing, a beautiful, stately old home appears. It seems as if the house has always been here, presiding over the land with centuries of stories to tell.

It is hard to believe that this grand, historic home was disassembled, moved and reassembled on this site in Efland a mere 14 years ago.

Built in Warrenton in the late 1770s, Woodland was renovated in 1851. Then in 1995, it was disassembled, moved and reassembled in Efland.

By Virginia Alexander
WOL Verdun
A

An ottoman with storage can free up a lot of space.

An ottoman with storage can free up a lot of space.

An ottoman with storage can free up a lot of space.

An ottoman with storage can free up a lot of space.